RULES AND REGULATIONS

FOR THE

GOVERNMENT OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

According to sec. 57 of the School Laws of 1864, it is the duty of the District Board to "establish all needful regulations" for the management of the school. The Hon. State Superintendent of Public Instruction has therefore made a selection of Rules and Regulations for the government of scholars, from those used in the schools of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Detroit, Chicago and other cities, adding many of his own, especially arranged for the schools of this State. These, together with advisory suggestions from that excellent treatise, "The Teacher's Assistant," by CHARLES NORTHEND, form a large and choice code from which the Board can make a selection.

It is expected that they will select such of these Rules and Regulations as in their judgment are applicable to the wants and circumstances of their school, and copy the same on the blank pages following, headed "Rules and Regulations adopted by the District School Board." One or more copies of the Rules and Regulations adopted should be handed to the teacher, and posted up in some conspicuous place in the school room, so that both teacher and pupil may frequently consult them.

[I.]

Rules Governing Teachers.

1. No person shall be employed to teach a common school, which is to receive its distributive share of the school fund of this District, unless he shall have a certificate of qualification, signed by the School Inspectors of this Township, or a diploma from the State Normal School; and any teacher who commences to teach without such certificate, shall forfeit all claim to compensation for the time during which he teaches without such certificate.

2. All the teachers are required to be in their respective school rooms, both morning and afternoon, fifteen minutes before the time fixed for the session to begin.*

3. The hours of study, recitation and recreation, shall be arranged in a written programme, and these hours shall be punctually and strictly observed.

4. It shall be the duty of the teachers to give vigilant attention to the ventilation and temperature of their school rooms. A regular system of ventilation shall be practiced in winter as well as in summer, by which the air in all the school rooms shall be effectually changed at each recess, at the close of each school session, and at such other times as may be necessary to prevent the breathing of impure air. Whenever windows are opened for the purpose of ventilation, it shall be by lowering them from the top; and children shall in no case be allowed to sit in a draft of cold air. The temperature of the rooms should at no time be higher than sixty-five degrees Fahrenheit.

5. Every teacher shall allow a recess, each half day, of fifteen minutes from the time the pupils leave their seats until they are again seated, and this should be given, as nearly as may be, at the expiration of one-half of each school session. No pupil shall be deprived of recess, except when he has previously been allowed to go out, or is suffering penalty; nor shall any pupil study during recess time, unless under similar circumstances. No pupil shall be detained at the noon recess; and a pupil detained at any other recess shall be permitted to go out immediately thereafter. In schools for small children, there may be more frequent recesses. Some allow three or five minutes' recess, within doors, after each recitation.

6. Teachers shall, as often as twice in each half day, relieve the pupils by such gymnastic exercises as may be easily practiced in the school room, taking care that the room be well supplied with fresh air during such exercises. They should also teach and require the pupils to sit or stand in erect and healthful attitudes, and guard them, as far as practicable, from habits destructive to health.

7. Teachers shall, as far as practicable, maintain a personal supervision over the pupils during the recesses, accompanying them to the play-grounds, and counseling them to such sports as may be healthful and innocent.

8. Teachers shall notify the Director, whenever it is necessary to procure articles for sweeping and cleaning the school house, or to employ persons to make the necessary fires, and insure the cleanliness of the building.

9. It shall be the duty of each teacher to see that the windows of his school room are carefully closed, that the fire, if any, is in a perfectly safe condition, and that the outside door of his room is locked at the close of each day.

*The time may be ten, fifteen or twenty minutes; or, fifteen in the morning and five in the afternoon.

10. Teachers shall prescribe such rules for the use of the yards and out-buildings connected with the school houses as shall insure their being kept in a neat and proper condition, and shall examine them daily to see that they are thus kept, and they shall be held responsible for any want of neatness or cleanliness on their premises.

11. The Principal of each department of the several schools shall take special care to secure good order in the stair-ways and school yards.

12. Teachers may inflict punishment by detaining a pupil during recess or after school; by requiring a pupil to stand or sit in some specified place; or, on consultation with the District Board, by suspension or expulsion. In rare and obstinate cases, they may inflict corporeal punishment with a whip or strap, but such punishment should be administered in private, and with great caution, to prevent bodily injury.

13. Whenever punishment is inflicted by detention or by whipping, the teacher shall keep a record of the name of the pupil punished, the time when he was punished, the cause of punishment, and the nature and amount of the punishment; and this record shall be kept private, and exhibited to the school officers only, at their request.

14. Teachers may, for violent insubordination or opposition to authority, or for flagrant offences, temporarily suspend a pupil from the school, and require him to leave the premises; but all such suspensions shall be temporary only, and must be reported on the same day to the parents or guardian, and to the District Board, for further action, but shall stand good until action of the District Board is had. They may also suspend a pupil for such number of absences or cases of tardiness as the Board shall direct.

15. In cases of tardiness or absence, teachers shall require pupils to bring or send an excuse, in writing, from their parents or guardians, assigning good and sufficient reason for such tardiness or absence. Five cases of unexcused absence or tardiness shall subject the pupil to the penalty of expulsion or suspension.

16. No pupil shall be permitted to leave school at recess, or at any other time before the regular hours of closing school, for the purpose of attending to any music, dancing, writing, or other lessons, or for any other cause whatsoever, except by special permission. Sickness of the pupil, or in the family, or some pressing emergency, shall be the only legitimate excuse for absence; and in default of such excuse, the re-admission of the pupil shall depend upon the circumstances of the case and the discretion of the District Board.

17. Teachers may give, in each quarter, one morning half-holiday and one afternoon half-holiday, either on the same day, or on different days, for the purpose of obtaining time to visit other schools in the district or in the vicinity.

18. No holidays shall be given in school, except those allowed by the District Board; nor shall any teacher dismiss his school before the regular time, except for accidents or emergencies which render the room untenable for the time, or on account of sickness.

19. Teachers shall keep a register of the school, which shall exhibit the District, Township, County and State in which the school is kept; the day of the week, the month and year; the name, age and attendance of each scholar, with the parent or guardian of each, and shall make such a report at the close of each term as the law requires.

20. The teacher shall send a monthly report to the parent or guardian of each pupil, showing the averages of the pupils in attendance, scholarship, and deportment, to be signed by the parent or guardian, and returned to the teacher.

21. Teachers shall not appropriate to themselves, in the school, or within the hours thereto belonging, any portion of time for their own reading, writing or business; nor shall they engage in any other business which, in the judgment of the Board of Directors, will interfere with or be inconsistent with the performance of their duties.

22. Teachers shall not engage in any other teaching, or give private lessons, before 6 o'clock P. M., Saturdays excepted.

23. No teacher shall absent himself from school during school hours, except on account of sickness, or other unavoidable necessity.

24. No teacher shall have the right to resign, during the term for which he or she was appointed, without consent of the Board, and at least two weeks' notice. Any teacher doing so shall be liable to the forfeiture of two weeks' salary, at the option of the District Board.

25. No teacher shall allow any advertisements to be distributed or posted in the school house or on its premises; nor shall any person be permitted to enter the school for the purpose of exhibiting any book or apparatus, or other article, for sale to the teachers or pupils.

26. Teachers shall not sell books and stationery to pupils; provided that this restriction shall not be held to prohibit teachers from encouraging their pupils in appropriate ways to subscribe for juvenile or educational periodicals.

27. Teachers shall not assign lessons to be learned out of school hours.

28. Teachers should not vary from the usual order of school exercises, on account of visitors.

29. Teachers shall not award any medals, or other prizes, to the pupils under their charge, unless specially authorized by the Board; but rewards of merit may be given to deserving pupils.

30. No pupil shall be received or continued in the common school, known to be affected with a contagious or infectious disease, or coming from a family where such disease prevails.

31. Any child that comes to school without proper attention having been given to the cleanliness of his person, or dress, or whose clothes need repairing, shall be sent home to be properly prepared for the school room.

(32. It shall be the duty of the principals of the schools to read to the pupils of their respective departments, from time to time, so much of the school regulations as apply to them, that they may have a clear understanding of the rules by which they are governed.)

(33. The teacher, immediately after the close of his school, shall deliver to the Director his Daily Register, Class Book, and School Ledger, and such other books as belong to the District.)

[II.]

Advisory Suggestions to Teachers.

[From the Teacher's Assistant.]

1. From your earliest intercourse with your pupils, secure from them prompt, cheerful and exact obedience.

2. Unite firmness with gentleness; and let your pupils clearly understand that you mean exactly what you say.

3. Never promise anything, unless you are quite sure you can give, or do, what you promise.

4. Never threaten a definite punishment for an anticipated offence.

5. Study the dispositions of your pupils, and adapt your modes of discipline to the same.

6. Never be late at school.

7. Be courteous in action and expression.

8. Never tell a pupil to do anything unless you are sure he knows how it is to be done; or show him how to do it, and then see that he does it.

9. Always punish a pupil for wilful disobedience; but never punish unduly, or in anger; and in no case give a blow on the head.

10. Never let your pupils see that they can vex you, or make you lose your self-control.

11. If pupils are under the influence of an angry or petulent spirit, wait till they are calm and then reason with them on the impropriety of their conduct.

12. Never yield anything to a pupil because he looks angry, or attempts to move you by threats or tears. Deal mercifully, but justly too.

13. A little present punishment, when the occasion arises, is more effectual than the threatening of a greater punishment, should the fault be renewed.

14. Never allow pupils to do at one time what you have forbidden, under the like circumstances, at another.

15. Teach the young that the only sure and easy way to appear good is to be good.

16. Never allow tale-bearing.

17. If a pupil abuses your confidence, make him, for a time, feel the want of it.

18. Never allude to former errors, when real sorrow has been evinced for having committed them.

19. Encourage, in every suitable way, a spirit of diligence, obedience, perseverance, kindness, forbearance honesty, truthfulness, purity, and courteousness.

20. Never speak in a scolding, fretful manner, but use tones of gentleness. Some teachers defeat their object by using harsh and boisterous tones.

21. Be consistent in your requirements, and uniform in your practice.

22. Set a good example in all things. Constantly aim at thoroughness in teaching.

23. Inculcate habits of neatness.

24. In conduct, be what you wish your pupils to become; avoid what you wish them to avoid.

[III.]

Rules Governing Pupils.

1. Every scholar, on entering the school grounds, shall go directly to his school-room, or to such portions of the grounds as are assigned for recreation; and none may loiter on the walks or steps, or in the halls or ante-rooms, for conversation or other purposes. And on leaving, he shall pass in a quiet and orderly manner directly from the school grounds and premises.

2. Unexcused tardiness is regarded, and may be punished, as a misdemeanor; also leaving the grounds or school house without permission. And no excuse or request, save in case of sickness or of some necessity, may be entertained by a teacher, unless made by the parent or guardian in person, or in writing, over his or her signature.

3. No pupil is expected to be absent from school, except on account of sickness or some other urgent cause; and an excuse from the parent or guardian of the pupil, in person or by writing over his or her signature, shall be required for absences. And in all cases the teacher may require an examination of the pupil in the lessons recited by his class during such absence. In case of such irregularity in attendance as shall in the judgment of the teacher, incapacitate the pupil from advancing with his class, the teacher may transfer such pupil to the next lower class; or the Board may, if necessary, order such pupil to a school of the next lower grade.

4. No scholar is expected to appear at school with an unclean and slovenly person, or with garments indecently torn or soiled.

5. No disrespectful, profane or obscene language shall be uttered in or about the grounds or rooms of any school house. The use of such language shall be regarded as a misdemeanor of the highest kind, and shall be punishable by the teacher. All such cases may be referred to the Board, who may suspend such offender, or, in incorrigible cases, expel him from the school.

6. No pupil shall be allowed to speak disrespectfully to the teachers, or of his fellow pupils, or to attempt in any way to lessen the influence of the teacher in school.

7. All communications between scholars are to be avoided during the hours of study and recitation. This comprehends whispering, writing notes, or on the slate, signs, etc. Every pupil should study, in perfect silence as if there were no one else in the room.

8. Each pupil shall prepare promptly and thoroughly each lesson and task assigned him, and shall neither receive assistance from, nor give assistance to, other pupils during recitations.

9. No books are to be read in school hours, except such as belong to the studies and exercises of the school, except by permission of the teacher.

10. No pupil shall be allowed to leave the yard at recess, without permission from the teacher.

11. Every pupil who shall, accidentally or otherwise, injure any school property, whether fences, gates, trees, or shrubs, or any building or any part thereof, or break any window glass, or injure or destroy any instrument, apparatus or furniture belonging to the school, shall be liable to pay in full for all damage he has done.

12. Any pupil who shall call out to, hoot at, throw any missile at, or in any other manner molest or annoy any person in the street, shall be deemed guilty of a flagrant offense, and shall be dealt with accordingly.

13. Pupils shall not sit or stand upon the fences in front of the school house at any time.

14. Any pupil who shall absent himself from any regular examination of the school which he attends, without rendering a satisfactory excuse to the principal, shall be suspended from the school; and the principal shall immediately report the case to the parent of the pupil, and also to the District Board for their action thereon.

15. Scholars wishing to leave the school at any time during the term, should signify the same to the teacher, and secure an honorable dismission; and any scholar who shall be absent more than a week without notifying the teacher, shall forfeit all claim to his desk for the remainder of the term.

16. Caps, bonnets, and all outer garments must be placed on the hook assigned to each pupil, immediately on entering school. Each pupil shall keep his books and desk in good order.

[IV.]

Advisory Suggestions to Pupils.

[From the Teacher's Assistant.]

1. Resolve, on being received as a member of this school, to comply cheerfully with all the requirements of the teachers; and faithfully perform every duty assigned you.

2. Always manifest and cultivate a kind and accommodating disposition towards schoolmates, and respect towards teachers.

3. At all times let the school room be regarded as sacred to study and mental improvement. Never indulge in rudeness, childish trifling, loud and boisterous speaking, or anything that would be considered unbecoming in genteel company.

4. Resolve to lend your influence, in every possible way, to improve the school and elevate its character.

5. On entering the school, pass as quietly as possible to your seat, taking care to close the door gently, and avoid making unnecessary noise with the feet in crossing the room.

6. Take out books, slate, etc., from your desk with care, and lay them down in such a manner as not to be heard. Avoid making a rustling noise with papers, or noisily turning over leaves of books. Never let the marking of a pencil on your slate be heard.

7. Be careful to keep the feet quiet while engaged in study; or if it be necessary to move them, do it without noise.

8. Avoid the awkward and annoying habit of making a noise with the lips while studying.

9. Scuffling, striking, pushing or rudeness of any kind, must never be practiced, in the least, under any circumstances, within the school building.

10 Let your shoes or boots be cleaned at the door steps; always use the mat, if wet, muddy, or dirty.

11. Never suffer the floor under your desk, or the aisles around it, to be covered by papers, or anything else dropped on it.

12. Avoid spitting on the floor; it is a vulgar, filthy habit.

13. For cleaning your slate, you should provide yourself with a clean piece of sponge, and should moisten it with clean water, before school opens, or at recess.

14. Marking or writing on the desks, walls, or any part of the building, or school premises, with pencil, chalk, or other articles, manifests a bad taste, or a vicious disposition to deface or destroy property. None but a vicious, reckless, or thoughtless person will do it.

15. Knives should never be used in cutting anything on a desk.

16. Particular care should be observed to avoid spilling ink anywhere in the school building.

17. Let your books, etc., be always arranged in a neat and convenient order in your desk and upon it.

18. After using brooms, dust brushes, etc., always return them to their places.

19. Be ambitious to have every part of our school in so neat and orderly a condition, that visitors may be favorably impressed with this trait of our character.

20. Never meddle with the desk or property of another scholar without liberty.

21. Boys should never wear hats or caps in the school room.

22. Always be in your own place, and busy about your own duties
